What Are We Learning?

Math: We are learning and applying properties to solve multiplication equations when 3, 4, 6, 7, and 8 are factors. We will continue to use the distributive property to break apart multiplication equations into two smaller equations:

$$8 \times 4 = (4 \times 4) + (4 \times 4)$$

Please continue to work with your child at home on this concept by ensuring they complete their homework daily!

Reading: We are working on using a variety of strategies to figure out the meaning of tricky/unknown words as we read! To do this work, we will practice looking for clues the author may have left us. Sometimes authors will include a synonym or an antonym of the unknown word, sometimes the author simply explains what the word means, and sometimes we just have to use the gist of what is happening to figure out the unknown word.

Writing: We are discussing the different types of details that we can add to our personal narratives (dialogue, actions, thoughts, and setting details). Students are working on stretching out their small-moment stories by adding these different types of details! We will be learning how to punctuate dialogue by adding commas and quotation marks this week as well.
