

Hidden In Plain Sight

Looks can be deceiving.

That's the message behind a unique traveling exhibit that helps parents identify potential hidden safety concerns.

Police officers will construct what at first glance appears to be the ordinary bedroom of a teenager. But within the clutter of clothing on the floor, school supplies on the desk and personal care products on the vanity will be more than 150 items "hidden in plain sight" that could actually be signs that a young person is involved in risky, dangerous or even illegal behaviors.

Program participants are encouraged to walk through the scene and explore items that may indicate a teen is drinking or using drugs, has an eating disorder, is sexually active, and more. The program is educational and eye-opening.

The walk through exhibit and program are free but open to ADULTS ONLY.

The Hidden in Plain Sight program is created by the Bath and Copley Township Police Departments. The October 23 event here in Solon is presented with the support of the Solon Police Department, the Solon Organized Parent Education Network and the Solon Council of PTAs.
